Airbrush Tanning Service Testimonial

As a fair-skinned person, tanning outdoors (or by tanning beds) is not a viable option for me as I burn very easily. Moreover, I am very aware of the dangerous and damaging effects outdoor tanning and tanning beds have on one's skin. Therefore, the only other means I have for acquiring a safe and healthy tan is by means of sunless tanning products.

I have used almost every sunless tanning product marketed today, including self-tanning lotions, sprays, creams, tanning towelettes, and misting booths. With varying results, none were worth the money I spent as the results lasted a few days at best, and left streaks, blotches, uneven coloration, and sadly, stained my clothing. My quest for a realistic, and lasting sunless tan continued!

As a frequent client of Meredith Gilbert (licensed esthetician and airbrush makeup artist at My Retreat Day Spa located in Vacaville, California), I was introduced to her technician-applied airbrush tanning services. When I first learned of Meredith's airbrush tanning services, I was slightly hesitant because of the cost of the service. During my previous sunless tanning experiences, I had tried the airbrush services and the results were blotchy and uneven, and rubbed off on my clothing. I couldn't imagine paying more money for that experience again.

Meredith assured me that the product she used was the best solution currently marketed for airbrush tanning, so I decided to give it a try. The results were surprisingly fabulous! Not only was my tan a very realistic bronze color, but it did not rub off on my clothing nor appeared streaky or blotchy like my previous experiences. With proper maintenance and moisturizing, my tan lasted at the very least 7 days, and faded gradually, and evenly, just like a real tan. Furthermore, Meredith is highly skilled and a very professional airbrush technician who is extremely careful and meticulous in her application of the product to ensure that you receive the best service and quality results.

Although there are less-expensive, sunless tanning airbrush services available, I firmly believe you get what you pay for, as my previous experiences dictate. With a cheap airbrush service, you get cheap results. I am hooked on Meredith's airbrush tanning service, and will not ever spend money on another sunless tanning product again! I whole-heartedly endorse her airbrush sunless tanning service!!!

A Note to Prospective Clients:

As an experienced "sunless tanner," I strongly urge any prospective client to carefully follow the pre-tanning and post-tanning instructions prior to and after your application. In the days following the application, make sure to take the time to nurture your tan - moisturize your skin daily with a product that is designed for sunless tans so as not to strip the color. Also, avoid harsh cleaners/soaps and exfoliating products to ensure the longevity of your sunless tan.

Sincerely,

Jennifer G., Vacaville, CA.
